JP HIGH STUDENTS WIN SUFFOLK COUNTY MOCK TRIAL COMPETITION

Ericka Barney, Damon Gibbs, Lissett Guirola, Maribel Laboy, Kona Khasu, Stacy Brown, Chris Willot, Lamont Capers

A team of students from Jamaica Plain High School have emerged as the Suffolk County winners of the 1988 Massachusetts Bar Association Mock Trial Competition; a tournament sponsored by the Massachusetts Bar Association where the students assume the roles of attorneys and witnesses, trying 'cases' in actual courtrooms.

The students on the team were: Lissett Guirola, Chris Willott, Maribel Laboy, Lamont Capers, Erica Barney, Kona Khasu, Stacy Brown, Damon Gibbs. The Jamaica Plain team was coached by teacher Jerry Howland and assisted by Jamaica Plain lawyer David Levy.

During March, 57 student teams from across the Commonwealth competed against other schools from their own counties. A final playoff will result in one team being named Massachusetts champion.

Throughout the tournament process, all classes have been trying the same hypothetical case which involves a fictional shooting. The "prosecutor" contends that the defendant intentionally shot one of a group of teenagers who has been harassing him. The "defendant" charges that the gun accidentally discharged while he was acting in self-defense.

The goal of the tournament is to help students gain an understanding of the legal process through an exciting and interactive program while fostering an understanding of legal rights; exercising listening, public speaking, and reading skills; and building self-confidence.

Attorney volunteers, recruited by the bar association, assist the students in preparing for the trials. Many of the mock trials are presided over by actual Massachusetts judges.

The law-related education department of the Massachusetts Bar Association develops and sponsors activities like the trial tournament to foster lawyer-teacher classroom partnerships. Many classrooms and lawyers, paired through these programs, maintain long-lasting relationships with classes continuing to call upon attorneys for their expertise in such areas as law, civics and political science.

The girl's basketball team won eight of its last nine games to finish second in Division I of the Boston City League and qualify for the state tournament. The team was led by Captain Renee Rice who was the city's second leading scorer (28.9 points per game) and leading rebounder (19.0 rebounds per game) and by senior Katrina Golden, who was the league's leading three point shooter. Both Renee and Katrina were selected to the Boston all star team. Renee Rice was also selected to the Boston Globe's all scholastic team.

Other players making outstanding contributions were point guard and straight A student Sylvia Phillips, forwards Kim Amerson, Tiffany Ross, Alicia McLean and guards Tracy Pearson and Karen Rice.

Future varsity prospects who played for the junior varsity team this year were; Valerie Hunter, Athina Booker, Michelle Wells, Simone Sherman, Schlina Burt and Sofia Sanchez.

This season would have been much better if our former captain and fearless leader, No. 23, did not wimp out with a little wrist injury.

The Knights were a strong and talented team this year, showing force where it was called for. We skated with the best in the Division and held our ground on many occasions where others would have fallen. To repeat! Although the final record may not be so glorious, the team still believes that the "mighty Knights", are just that!

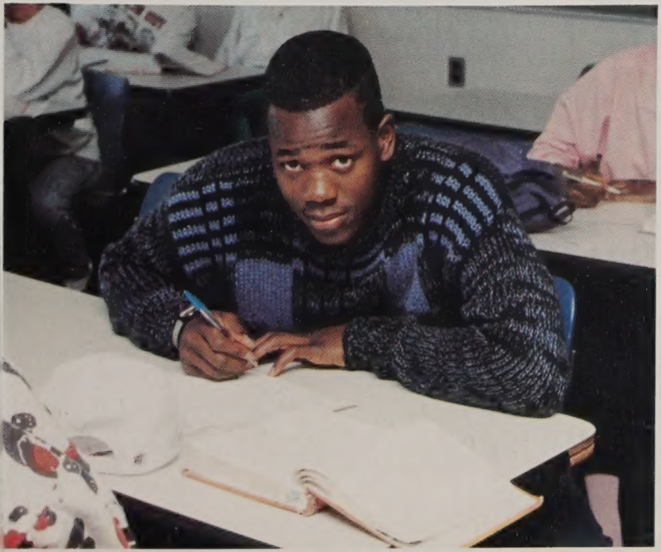
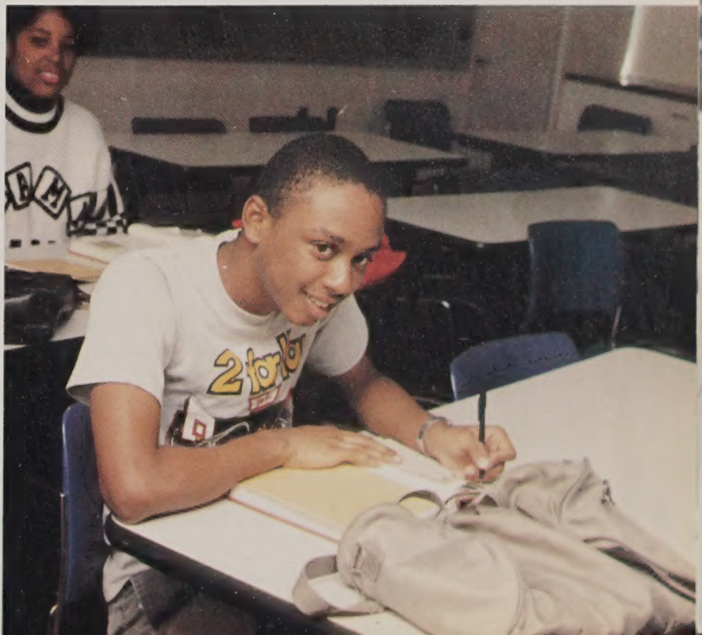
A task worth doing and friends worth having make life worth while.



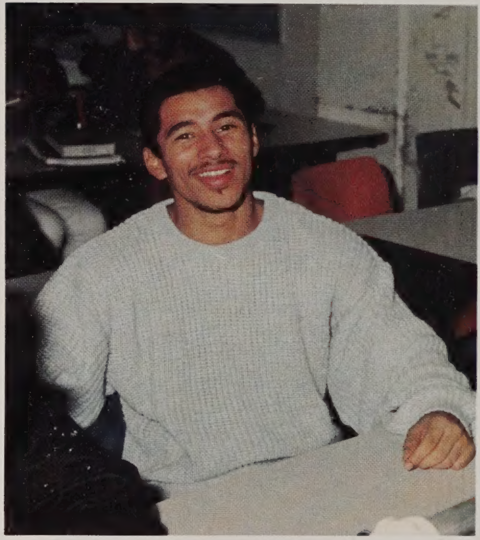


The ultimate in shapely curves is found within a smile.

Smile now - you may not feel like it later.

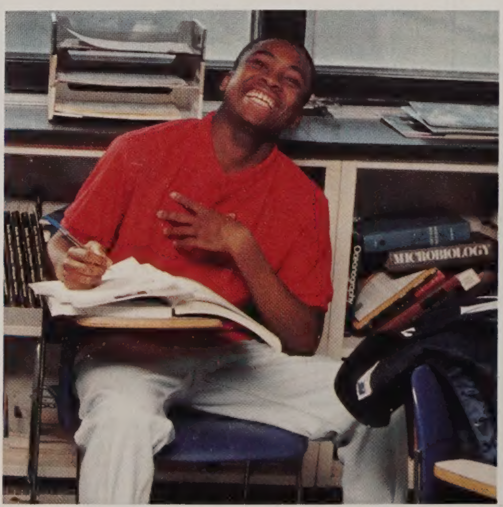
A smile is a powerful weapon: you can even break ice with it.

If you didn't start your day with a smile, it's not to late to start practicing for tomorrow.



The smile that lights the face will also warm the heart.

There's a face-lift you can perform yourself that is guaranteed to improve your appearance. It is called a smile.



Something of a person's character may be discovered by observing how he smiles.
